

Remaining 11 bodies repatriated home

A C130 military aircraft landed in Pretoria in the early hours of this morning containing the bodies of the remaining victims of the Nigeria tragedy.

The bodies were brought back to the country by a team of military health personnel and forensic pathologists who had departed on Monday night at about 9pm.

Last year on 12 September, 81 South Africans were killed and 25 were injured when the multi-storey building collapsed in Lagos. - SAnews.gov.za

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>