

rAge appoints The Lime Envelope

Further entrenching itself as a PR and communication agency for the expo and event industry, The Lime Envelope will once again be handling the public relations and branding for rAge (Really Awesome Gaming Expo).

After the very successful inaugural rAge in 2003, the event organisers have announced the 2004 dates and are looking forward to an even bigger and better expo. The ultimate computer and PC game and technology experience is due to touch down at The Dome @ Northgate 01-03 October 2004.

rAge not only delivered on visitors and quality exhibitors last year, the expo won an award as the best new exhibition in 2003. "Feedback from both exhibitors and visitors in 2003 was extremely positive with comments made that not only was the show professional, boasting the latest technology and games, but that it was heaps of fun. Which is exactly what we want it to be. Business expos have their place, but so do entertaining technology shows such our initiative," comments organiser Michael James.

To participate in the exhibition or for more event information please contact Michael James on 083 409 8220 or Samantha van Rensburg on (011) 884 7700 or e-mail .

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>