

Walter Wales appointed business development manager at WEC Projects

Local water and wastewater treatment EPC contractor, WEC Projects, has appointed Walter Wales as its business development manager.

Wales has a background in civil engineering and has worked for companies such as Murray & Roberts and Calcamite Water and Sanitation. His experience in the construction industry saw him participate in a number of high-profile projects including the Gautrain and various iconic buildings throughout Southern Africa. He has also worked extensively on water and wastewater treatment projects for the mining, tourism and commercial sectors.
