

TransUnion appoints new senior director for African operations

TransUnion has appointed Thabo Molefe as its new senior director for its African operations outside of South Africa, replacing Chad Reimers, who moves to a new position within the company.

Molefe has extensive knowledge of the African marketplace, and has almost 20 years' experience across the African continent and has previously held leadership roles at companies such as LexisNexis and HP.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>