"It's that time of year again when the NSBC announces the names of the Top 20 Award winners from a wealth of candidates," says Mike Anderson, founder and CEO of the NSBC. "It is never an easy task, given the sheer number of exceptional South Africans who have created thriving and innovative businesses."

This year marks the 14th anniversary of the prestigious South African Small Business Awards, which recognises the tireless journey, hard work and outstanding achievements of small businesses and entrepreneurial success.

Says Anderson: "This is a celebration of the most outstanding businesses and the extraordinary individuals behind these successful and growing enterprises."

As usual, the Top 20 businesses and/or entrepreneurs all receive a Top 20 Winner Award and automatically become finalists in the category and special awards.

"We are humbled by the support of such esteemed industry leaders. Without their commitment, small businesses would have fewer opportunities to thrive and flourish," says Anderson, listing the following national sponsors of the 2022 South African Small Business Awards in alphabetical order: Absa, Experian, FedEx, Microsoft, ProfitShare Partners, Sage, Santam, Toyota, MTN, Netstar and Vodacom.

The NSBC is once again impressed with the diversity and the record number of entrants this year. "It is immensely encouraging to see the magnitude of South Africa's entrepreneurial spirit," Anderson notes, adding that every entrant has made a difference to someone's life in some way, either through employment or innovative products and services. "At the heart of this great nation is its people and I am proud to be associated with all these worthy winners."
