

The Jornal do Brasil* makes print comeback

Brazilian news publication The Jornal do Brasil has opted to return to print after eight years of exclusively digital production.

The newspaper reported that it sold 40,000 copies in a few hours on the day of its return.

The print edition was initially scrapped in 2010 due to a claim by The Jornal do Brasil of being 'ahead of its time' and because of environmental reasons.
