

MMOCA invites filmmakers to submit entries

Mobile Moviemakers Film Festival Cape Town (MMOCA) is inviting aspiring filmmakers to submit their short films for its inaugural festival.

MMOCA is South Africa's first-ever online mobile phone movie making film festival and it aims to showcase and support emerging filmmakers skilled at creating cinematic videos using a smartphone, tablet, action camera or drone.

Participants have until 13 November to submit their entries in the three award categories - Documentary, Fiction and Advertisement. An entry fee of R100 is payable, while students can register free of charge.
